

PUBLICATION ETHICS

Author's duties

- to indicate the references
- to indicate the source of funding
- to provide only the correct information
- to be responsible for the providing information
- to ensure that no plagiarism and fraudulent data
- to provide material for the peer review
- to participate in the editing process
- to provide the retractions or corrections of mistakes
- all authors must significantly contribute to the research

Reviewer's duties

- to be objective in their judgments
- to have no conflict of interest in relation to the authors, researches and funding
- to verify the borrowing and citations
- to check materials for the plagiarism
- to consider the material confidentially

Editor's duties

- to have the responsibility for accepting/rejecting an article or review
- to have no conflict of interest in relation to researches
- to promote the publication of correction or retraction
- to conform to the intellectual and ethical standards
- to appoint the reviewers and preserve their anonymity
- to control the publication ethics (see COPE)

Publisher's duties

- to publish approved materials
- to conclude the licensing agreements with authors
- to archive published materials
- to distribute information on publications in the science-metric databases
- to provide a legal support for multimedia materials
- to prevent the prevalence of business over science
- to advertise the magazine

www.mediamusic-journal.com

